The Sacrament of Anointing of the Sick

A communal celebration of the Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick will take place at St. James Cathedral on Saturday, April 30, 2016, at a special 10:30am Mass. Father Ryan will preside. All are welcome to attend the Mass.

What is the sacrament of Anointing of the Sick?

The sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick is one of the seven sacraments of the Catholic Church. Like the sacrament of reconciliation (confession), it is a sacrament of healing. Our understanding of this sacrament has changed with time. In the early Church it was seen as a sacrament of healing, but later it came to be known as “Extreme Unction” – literally, “last anointing” – and was not administered until death was imminent. With the reforms of the Second Vatican Council, the Church has returned to the more ancient practice with regard to this sacrament.

Who can receive this sacrament?

Catholics, both children and adults, who are seriously ill, facing surgery, or experiencing the weakness that comes with old age should seek this sacrament. Those with serious, chronic mental or physical illness may also receive the anointing of the sick.

What happens during the Rite of Anointing?

The Rite of Anointing will be celebrated in the context of a special Mass on Saturday, April 30, at 10:30am.

After the homily, the Liturgy of Anointing begins. The priest leads a litany in which all pray for the healing and forgiveness of the sick person, as well as for doctors, nurses, and caregivers. Then, in silence, the priest lays his hands on the head of the sick person, an ancient gesture of prayer that is used in connection with many of the sacraments, especially the Sacrament of Reconciliation and Holy Orders.

After the laying on of hands, each sick person is anointed with the Oil of the Sick (pure olive oil, blessed each year by the Archbishop at the Chrism Mass). The sick person is anointed on the forehead and then on the hands, and simple words accompany the anointing: “Through this holy anointing may the Lord in his love and mercy help you with the grace of the Holy Spirit. May the Lord who frees you from sin save you and raise you up.” A concluding prayer follows, and if the sacrament takes place in the context of the Mass, the Liturgy of the Eucharist continues as usual.

No RSVP is required. Information, Corinna Laughlin, 206-264-2086, or e-mail claughlin@stjames-cathedral.org.

Holy Things, Holy People

Exploring Catholic history in the Northwest through treasures from the past

PART 36: I LOVE HUNTHAUSEN BUTTON

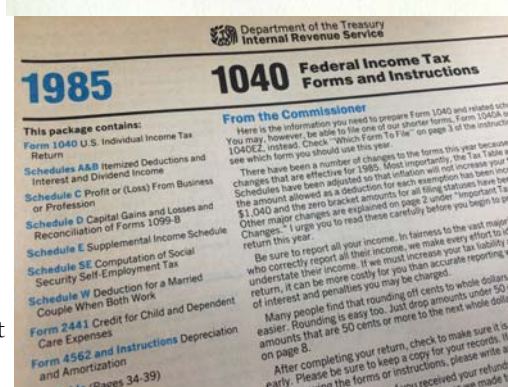

17 APRIL 2016

Archbishop Raymond Hunthausen never forgot where he was on August 6, 1945. He was sitting on the grass outside St. Edward's Seminary in Kenmore, Washington, where he was studying for the priesthood. The sound of the radio wafted through an open window. Suddenly, a news reporter's voice broke through the regular program: the United States had dropped the atom bomb on Hiroshima, a city of about 250,000 inhabitants. The bomb ended the war, but at great cost: 140,000 were killed in Hiroshima, another 80,000 three days later in Nagasaki. "From that moment on, I could never accept the bomb," Hunthausen later said. "I could never accept its use again."

But for Hunthausen, who would become one of the most prominent voices against the arms race, it was not an instantaneous conversion. His thinking grew and deepened over time, especially through his experience of the Second Vatican Council, and his years as Bishop of Helena, Montana, and then, in 1975, as Archbishop of Seattle. When he arrived in Seattle, he had no idea that, two years before, the Navy had designated Bangor on Hood Canal the home for the Trident Fleet of nuclear submarines. Slowly but surely, he felt called to respond to the situation, and to join the growing protests against the presence of nuclear weapons in the diocese.

On June 12, 1981, Archbishop Hunthausen was invited to deliver the keynote address for the annual Pacific Northwest Synod of Lutherans at Pacific Lutheran University. The topic was to be "Faith and Disarmament." At first he intended to say what he later described as "the same old things." But after talking with peace activists Jim Douglass and Charlie Meconis, Hunthausen felt he needed to speak out more strongly. His address minced no words: "I say with deep consciousness of these words that Trident is the Auschwitz of Puget Sound." And he suggested that something more was needed than protests and demonstrations. "Our paralyzed political process needs that catalyst of nonviolent action based on faith. We have to refuse to give incense—in our day, tax dollars—to our nuclear idol. On April 15, we can vote for unilateral disarmament with our lives. Form 1040 is the place where the Pentagon enters all of our lives, and asks our unthinking cooperation with the idol of nuclear destruction." Hunthausen suggested that if five or ten thousand, or a quarter of a million Washington State residents withheld a portion of their income, the government would take notice. Never a fiery orator, Hunthausen delivered this stunning message in his usual gentle and soft-spoken manner.

This speech—which Father Michael G. Ryan, the Archbishop's chancellor and vicar general, describes as "the shot heard round the world"—created a sensation. It made front-page news the next day, and in subsequent weeks more than 800 invitations for Archbishop Hunthausen to speak poured in from around the country and the world.

Responses to the Archbishop were sharply divided. Peace activist Daniel Berrigan described him as "one of the modern visionaries of our history," while Secretary of the Navy John Lehman called his remarks "ignorant and repugnant." The Seattle Times editorial pages were filled with letters. "To believe that Russia can be trusted while we unilaterally disarm our nuclear weapons, as does Rev. Hunthausen, is in itself immoral," said one man in a letter to the editor. "Honest taxpayers have no choice but to demand his arrest and prosecution." Others supported him, even if they did not follow him in withholding their own income taxes: "The 'peace' and 'security' that we maintain with our arsenals are delusions," wrote a Seattle couple. Parishes made "I Love Hunthausen" buttons which were distributed widely (and are still treasured by many!). Other Catholics signed a petition entitled "Catholic Parishioner's Pledge to the I.R.S." in which they promised to pay their taxes, and rejected Hunthausen as the leader of the local Church: "we will respond only to Archbishop Connolly as our Roman Catholic leader."

Archbishop Hunthausen never believed that his actions would create such a storm of controversy. Reluctant though he was to be dragged into the limelight, he did not back away from his positions. Hunthausen was not naïve—he knew that unilateral disarmament was risky, but he believed that it was no riskier than continued nuclear proliferation. In response to his critics, he insisted that his civil disobedience was not politically motivated. "I am convinced that as Christian people we cannot live with this and profess to be people of Christ.... It is not an arbitrary violation of law. It is a calling to recognize that God says something of a higher nature to us."

Long after the newspapers had moved on to other headlines, Archbishop Hunthausen quietly continued his civil disobedience. In a 1986 letter to the IRS, he wrote, "as I have indicated in previous correspondence with your office I cannot in conscience pay the full amount of Income Tax owing. I have enclosed a check in payment of the balance." In an interview, he said, "I can't, I just cannot, identify this arms race or the awesome nature of these weapons with the God I know and love."

when did we see you hungry and feed you?”

St. James needs your help to feed our neighbors in need!

1) Our team at Operation Nightwatch needs sandwich makers!

Sandwich makers arrive at Nightwatch (302 14th Ave S, ~1 mi southeast of St. James) on the first and/or third Tuesday of the month, 5:30pm-7:00pm. Be part of a team of sandwich makers working together!

2) Our other “Sandwich Ministry” makes sandwiches at home for our neighbors at St. Martin de Porres Shelter. Once per month, bring a loaf of already-made sandwiches to the Cathedral, and we’ll deliver the sandwiches to St. Martin’s. This is the perfect ministry for families with kids!

ARCHDIOCESE

SOUTH SEATTLE DEANERY
PASTORAL PLANNING PROCESS
Update #1

The 17 parishes* in the South Seattle Deanery are currently in the midst of a planning initiative to envision how our faith communities will best support missionary discipleship in the future. The, Catholic Leadership Institute (CLI), a national non-profit, has been hired by the Archdiocese to help assist us in gathering feedback and information, facilitation, and preparation of our recommendations to be submitted to Archbishop Sartain by December 2016. Below are some of the updates of the progress made to date:

- JANUARY CONVOCATION Pastoral Leaders and Delegates from each parish gathered on January 9 for an initial planning convocation to review the planning process, describe the important role of the parish delegates, and begin gathering input and information.
- DISCIPLE MAKER INDEX SURVEY South Seattle parishes participated in the Disciple Maker Index Survey as a means to help gather feedback from a large number of parishioners to identify strengths and opportunities among our active members. We received over 3,300 responses or 23% of weekly Mass-goers, which is a great sampling of our community. 595 of these responses were from Cathedral parishioners.

The next major milestones through the Spring and Summer include:

- SPRING LISTENING SESSIONS: The Deanery will be hosting three regional Listening Sessions throughout the deanery at St. Joseph, St. Peter, and Our Lady of Guadalupe. These Listening Sessions will include a focus on the possible ways parishes can work together. Your participation is an important part of the process as we consider the future of your parish and of our deanery. Be on the lookout for more information.
- ONE-ON-ONE INTERVIEWS WITH PASTORS AND PASTORAL COORDINATORS conducted by CLI to gather additional information about each parish.
- APRIL FOCUS GROUPS: Catholic Leadership Institute will be facilitating focus groups with subsets of parishioners and staff throughout the deanery as a means to gain further insight into the planning conversation. These groups include Parish Finances, Staff, School, Youth and Family Faith Formation, Youth Ministry, Young Adults Ministry, Hispanic Ministry, Ministry to Asian & Pacific Islanders, LGBT Ministry, Seniors Ministry, Social Outreach and Advocacy, and Marginalized/Inactive Catholics.
- MAY 14 CONVOCATION Pastoral Leaders and Parish Delegates will again gather to review all of the feedback and information gathered to date including the trends from the Disciple Maker Index survey. The convocation will seek to surface major priorities to guide our planning effort.

The parishes in the South Seattle Deanery include Christ Our Hope, Holy Family, Holy Rosary, Immaculate Conception, Our Lady of Guadalupe, Our Lady of Mount Virgin, St. Edward, St. George, St. James Cathedral, St. Joseph, St. Mary, St. Patrick, St. Paul, St. Peter, St. Therese, Vietnamese Martyrs (Tukwila), and St. John Vianney (Vashon Island)*
