CREED

I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth,
of all things visible and invisible.
I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light,
true God from true God, begotten, not made,
consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,
All BOW
and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man.
All STAND UPRIGHT
For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate,
he suffered death and was buried,

and rose again on the third day
in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory
to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.
I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son
is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.
I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

A WEEKLY TIP ON CARING FOR OUR COMMON HOME One healthy home cleaning habit ensures that new air comes in regularly. Open the windows from time to time or run any installed exhaust fans. In cold weather, the most efficient way to exchange room air is to open windows and doors and let fresh air in quickly for about 5 minutes. The furnishings in the room, and the walls, act as 'heat sinks', and by exchanging air quickly, this heat is retained.

ST VINCENT DE PAUL THANKS YOU A middle-aged bus passenger stopped a larger man from attacking the bus driver. Then the attacker pulled the passenger off the bus and beat him severely. Unable to work due to the injuries, the man was laid off his job until a doctor clears him to return to work. Despite applying all his savings toward his rent, he needed help to avoid eviction. With your support, we paid enough to keep this hero housed until he gets his next paycheck – thank you! Information, Bob Clifford at 206-718-4158 or bobclifford53@gmail.com.

It's a quiet time to pray, read, and be present to those who come to the Cathedral, often people in need. We are currently looking for a volunteer who might cover one Tuesday afternoon each month, beginning in November. If you'd enjoy some quiet time in the Cathedral, we'd love to have you be a part of this ministry. Information, Maria Laughlin, 206-382-4284 or mlaughlin@stjames-cathedral.org.

OCTOBER IS RESPECT LIFE MONTH!

As we observe Respect Life month, we revisit statements in defense of the unborn made by Archbishop Raymond G. Hunthausen

What ought to mark us as disciples of Jesus is the same basic stance toward life as that of Jesus. In every situation we ought to take the opportunity to protect and enhance life and open up its promise for people. That means we must confront many of the same demons that stalked people in Jesus' time. Demons such as disease, sinful callousness toward our neighbor, social and religious stigma, materialism, disrespect for life, and poverty.

...Today death stalks our land in no more dramatic nor heinous way than it does in abortion, for abortion is both a cause and a symptom of our poverty.

We must take our stand with the unborn. We must work together to see that the laws of our land which protect human life protect the lives of the unborn. Our "no" to abortion on demand must be loud and clear. It must be heard not only from our voices but in our actions to change the laws of the country...

Our stance is not simply the result of a rational ethical argument. It also emerges from the stance of faith. As faith-filled disciples of Jesus, we seek to bring life in all its fullness to all those situations in which the doors of life are closing on people. Our "no" to abortion must be seen against the background of our "yes" to life.

Mass for Life homily, St. James Cathedral, January 19, 1986

Abortion does not simply destroy the unborn; it destroys us, too. Statistics reveal our society's quiet, collective anxiety and insecurity about the future. We do not know what the future holds. And so we are hesitant to embrace it. Instead of embracing our future with hope, we destroy its most concrete manifestation: our unborn children.

Mass for Life homily, St. James Cathedral, January 19, 1987

To approach abortion as though it were simply a matter of personal choice is to distort the issue at hand. While we may be dealing with an issue of choice, the fact is that there are some choices which society must disallow; in this instance, the taking of an innocent human life. Similar limitations are placed on such "choices" as sexual abuse of children and racial discrimination... that some people and some societies choose these courses of action does not mean that they can be chosen with impunity under the guise of "individual freedom." The primary issue before us is not freedom of choice, but whether we should take innocent human life. For the sake of our own intellectual honesty and moral integrity as a society, let us keep that issue clearly before us.

Statement urging public support of Initiative 471, November, 1985

In the light of the notion of the reciprocal relationship of law and public morality, I would like to assess some elements in the present condition of American society. First of all, I am pleased that there now exists a fairly solid nationwide consensus that law is for the common good and that law should tend to favor the weak and helpless... [but]... I am disturbed by the fact that the principle that the law should favor the weak and the helpless has at least on glaring exception in our country at the present time... The moment that we go back to the stage of incipient life—that is, the moment when the child in the womb is totally dependent on the mother—at that moment, the mother is declared by law to have rather complete rights to do with the growing fetus whatever she wills. The fetus cannot defend itself; the father has no say; and the state declares that it will do nothing to defend the destruction of the incipient life should the mother decide to abort...

The Minister's Black Veil

A Parable by Nathaniel Hawthorne

Monday, October 29, 2018
7:00pm

Holy Names Room, Pastoral Outreach Center

*"Lift the veil but once,
and look me in the face!"*

The respectable Reverend Hooper comes forth from his house one morning with a black veil concealing his face. This simple action shocks his quiet New England village. What does the veil mean? Does it conceal some disfigurement? Does it point to a secret grief – a secret sin? This 1832 story by the great American writer Nathaniel Hawthorne explores the question of how well we know each other – or if we can. Both spooky and profoundly spiritual, it is the perfect reading in Halloween week. Scott Webster will read the story aloud. Corinna Laughlin will provide with introduction and commentary.

All are welcome!

If you wish to read the text in advance, you can find the story online at <https://www.gutenberg.org/files/13707/13707-h/13707-h.htm#minister>. Copies are available in the Cathedral Bookstore as well.

Solemn Mass of All Souls

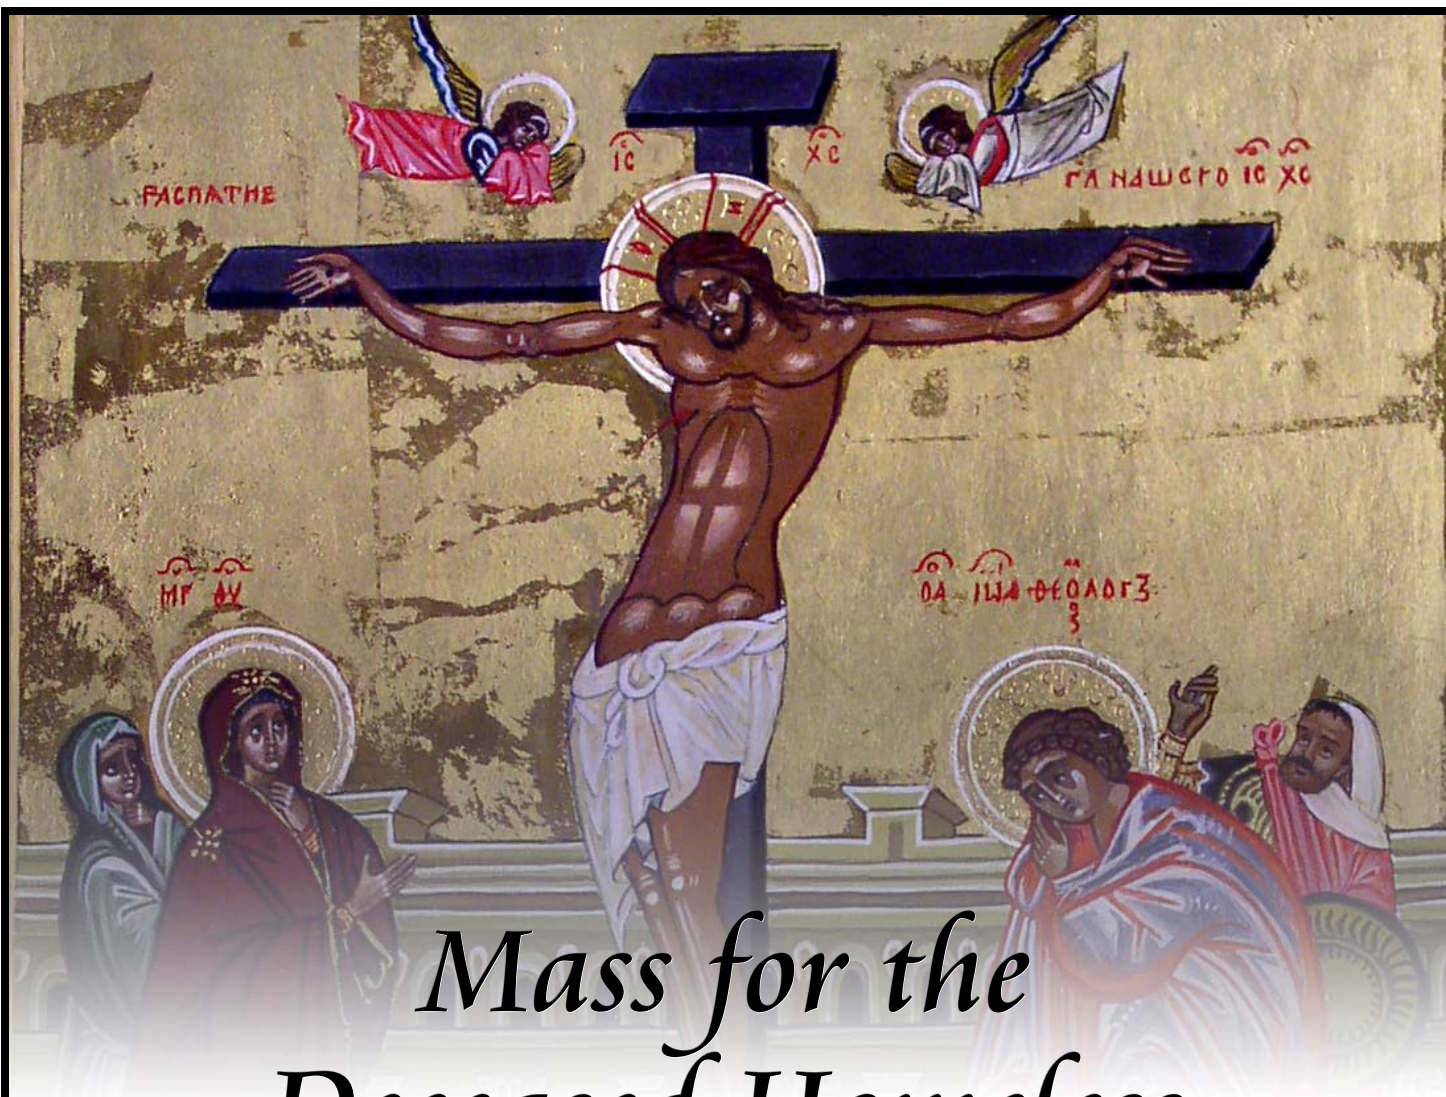

Friday, November 2, 2018 | 7:30pm

It is a holy and a wholesome thought to pray for the dead that they might be absolved from their sin. (2 Maccabees 12:45-46)

Father Michael G. Ryan will preside at the solemn Mass of All Souls. During this Mass, we pray for all our beloved dead. In a special way, we remember those who have been buried from the Cathedral during the past year, as well as all our deceased parishioners and benefactors. The parish death registers, reaching back more than a century, as well as the parish book of remembrance in which parishioners have been recording names for the past several weeks, are carried in the entrance procession.

The music features Mozart's sublime Requiem, under the direction of Joseph Adam, Director of Music, with the Cathedral Choir of St. James, Soloists, and the Cathedral Chamber Orchestra. All are welcome.

and to pray for them. Father Ryan will preside at the Mass;

ST. JAMES CATHEDRAL PARISH

We are the cathedral for the Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle and its Archbishop, The Most Reverend J. Peter Sartain. We are also a parish church for a vibrant faith community with a long history that reaches back to Seattle's early days.

We are an inner-city parish with an outreach to many who live on the edge of poverty and loneliness. We are a diverse community that welcomes, accepts, and celebrates the differences we all bring. We exist in the heart of the city, yet sometimes our parishioners come from considerable distances to worship here.

St. James Cathedral is a crossroads where ideas and challenges both old and new are explored in the light of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Our cathedral is also the center for many cultural and ecumenical events which both reflect and help to shape the fabric of a vital metropolitan community.

Above all, St. James Cathedral is a community of prayer.
